COOKING SCHOOL NEXT WEEK

Starting Monday, afternoon and continuing through Friday Mrs. Ida Chitwood will conduct the annual cooking school under the auspices of the Corsicana Daily Sun and Corsicana Semi-Weekly Morning Light at the new high school auditorium. Other cooking schools presented by the Sun and Light under the direction of Mrs. Chitwood have been successful in every respect and largely attended but the school this year will be held on a larger scale than ever before and many new features will be introduced. The paners are preparing to accomodate the largest attendance in the history of the school and nothing for the comfort and pleasure of the ladies attending will be omitted.

Mrs. Chitwood has been conduct ing schools in the larger cities of the United States for a number of years and has won a most enviable reputation as a home economic ex pert. Coupled with the thorough knowledge of her work she has a most pleasing personality and is an interesting lecturer who holds the close attention of her hearers at all times.

The school is absolutely free there being no charge of any nature. Every woman in Corsicana and Navarro county has a cordial invitation to be the guest of the Sun and Light and Mrs. Chitwood throughout the school.

GRADUATION TIME.

Graduation time is almost here again. Within the next few weeks another group of fine young men and women numbering approxi-mately 100, will be graduated from the Corsicana high school. Every citizen of Corsicana is proud of the local school system. The city schools are second to none in the State and under the direction of Mr. H. D. Fillers and his efficient staff of teachers the Corsicana schools have won an enviable reputation in educational circles, not only in the State but throughout the United States. Graduates of the Corsicana schools have made good in many schools and colleges over the country as well as have they made names for themselves in many lines of in-

PUNISHMENT

During the war the British for a ime made no public reports as to enemy submarines sunk by British ships and planes, concealing the fate of the crews from their relatives at home. This policy it was believed did more to lower the morale of the submarine fleet than would the immediate certainty of death in the service of the country. It no doubt accomplished its purnose, and something of the same principle applies in solving the question whether executions should be public or private to get the highest deterent effect.

Clarence Darrow has taken the position that if capital punishment does not deter others from taking human life by showing them the errible consequences of their act. then much better results in this direction would be obtained if the public were compelled to witness he execution of criminals, and the medieval practice of leaving the bodies of the executed hanging over the public highways and posting their heads in the market place should be revived.

This theory overlooks that indefinable human trait which causes ertain types of men and women to look upon the day of their own extention to a degree that gratifies their conceit and makes them heroic martyrs in not a few eyes The secret execution with its mystery of horror may be even more effectual in making men think twice before they risk a death that advertises neither their courage nor their criminal eminence

NECESSITY SPURS INVENTION

Progress ever waits on necessity Which is to say that nearly all modern inventions were created to meet a need of man.

In the percentage of Costly Chrome Vanadium Steel used, Dodge Brothers Motor Car outranks any other automobile in the World, regardless of cost.

It is everywhere conceded that Chrome Vanadium Steel is the toughest and most enduring metal ever created for use in the vital parts of a motor car.

It may not be so well known, however, that Dodge Brothers Motor Car ranks first in the world in the use of this costly and fatigue-proof material.

Dodge Brothers power assembly is almost entirely Chrome Vanadium - motor, connecting rods, crankshaft, transmission, universal joint, drive, shaft, differential and rear axle.

Even the front axie is Chrome Vanadium - the entire steering unit -- and every leaf of the springs.

In fact, wherever any manufacturer uses alloy steels, Dodge Brothers use costly Chrome Vanadium. And in numerous instances Dodge Brothers employ it where plain carbon steel, even in the costliest cars, is commonly thought sufficient

This has been true from the day Dodge Brothers built their first motor car.

This explains why the words Long Life, Safety and Dependability are habitually associated with the name Dodge Brothers wherever motor cars are serving mankind.
